

Character Reference:

Rebecca

Full Name: Rebecca Redheart

Age: 9 – 11

Gender: Female

Hair colour: Red

Eye colour: Blue

Ethnicity: White British

Biogene Name: Death Touch

Description:

Upon physical skin-to-skin contact with Rebecca, whoever she's touches instantly dies from the moment of contact.

Her biogene only activates from skin-to-skin, any layers between the skin, such as cloth, clothing, hair and solid objects, will not result in a biogene activation.

Her powers are similar to the Grim Reaper's touch of death.

Role: Protagonist

Personality:

(pre-chapter 1): innocent, happy, motivated, full-of-life.

(post-chapter 1): broken, shock, total despair, guilt ridden, afraid.

Bio:

Like every child in the world, Rebecca Redheart grew up being fascinated with superheroes. From reading comic books, watching tv and movies about heroes, seeing the news that highlight a villain takedown, Rebecca cheers them on as she saw them as her champions, her guardians, her heroes.

So much so that she always dreamed of becoming one, unfortunately, she comes from a long-running family without any biagenes and prior to the events of SOE, they suspected that Rebecca would never gain a Biagene.

Rebecca is the youngest child in the Redheart Family. When she's not at school, she spends time with her older sister, Minda. Playing pretend as a hero saving a helpless civilian or defeating nasty evil villains. When her sister is not around to play with her, she reads and watch mediums about heroes, her favourite written work is a manga series named 'Her Hero High'. Her favourite show to watch is 'Heroframe'. She doesn't have an exact favourite hero to admire as she pretty much likes all of them.

She has a future, a lot of potential to become what she wants to be. Who know what will happen to her...

Appearance:

She has red hair that covers her ears that goes down to her neck.

Her face has a total of twelve freckles, one slightly to the left on her forehead, one above the nose, three between her eyes, three on each her cheeks in different positions, and one slightly to the left, under her right nostril and above her lips.

Her outfit varies depending on the time.

At the start, she wears a purple shirt with a heart on it, a light-red skirt, grey leggings and yellowish green socks.

Outside in the cold, Rebecca wears a red puffy jacket to keep herself warm. Along with red boots with big yellow stars to the side.

In the majority of the game after Chapter 1, she wears an standard orange Juvenile wear, wearing a long sleeve shirt, orange trousers and lime green crocs. With a heavy arm lock restraint, cuffing on her hands, preventing her from using them.

Out-universe information:

From an outsider perspective, Rebecca starts off representing an average child living in a world of superheroes, and how the perspective of Rebecca can show what the illusion of society looks like before it shatters once she gains her Biagene.

This will work as her knowledge of society should be nearly the same as how much the audience knows.
