Roller coaster crash injures 7 at Branson USA theme park

BRANSON, Mo.— The Firestorm roller coaster at the Branson USA theme park wasn't operating Sunday after a collision Saturday night left seven people with minor injuries.

Inspectors from the state's Division of Fire Safety, which is in charge of amusement ride safety, checked the roller coaster, but could not determine what was wrong Sunday.

Amusement park manager Wayne Letterman said the ride would remain closed until an explanation for the accident was found.

The ride has two trains of three cars each, and apparently the brakes on one of them failed as it was coming into the loading area.

"For some reason, either one or some of the brakes did not set up properly, and did not get the car slowed down as slow as it should have been," said Letterman.

The seven people were treated at Skaggs Hospital in Branson.
